Marco Chosen As 2014 Elite Dealer By The Week In Imaging

January 5, 2015

Marco, Inc. has been selected as a 2014 Elite Dealer by ENX magazine (www.enxmag.com) and The Week in Imaging, a print and online publication for dealers and resellers of office technology, solutions and services.

Marco was chosen for their innovative marketing and sales programs and special initiatives. "One of the keys to our success is our focus on managing the end user experience," stated Trevor Akervik, Senior Director of Managed Services for Marco. "We are committed to understanding and supporting the generational differences of our clients. We want to provide the most effective interaction we can based on each user's preference for how they interface with us and all of the various technologies and platforms.

"These dealers represent the standouts from the independent dealer community," says Scott Cullen, Editorial Director of ENX and The Week in Imaging. "If there's one thing we've learned over the years of presenting our Elite Dealer awards, it's that independent dealers such as Marco remain critical to the overall success and the survival of the independent dealer community. In our opinion, Marco is a shining example of an Elite Dealer."
